S.S.C. Defeated By Reserve High, 34-0; Bay High Drops Close Decision, 22-20 To Poplarville Saturday

LACK OF SPEED MAJOR FACTOR IN LOSS; MEET BILOXI FRIDAY NIGHT

The lack of speed was very evident in the backfield of St. Stanislaus as it suffered its worst defeat of the year at the hands of the Reserve Louisiana team, 34-0.

Three times in the first half Stanislaus backs broke into the clear with the aid of outstanding blocking only to be caught from behind during the course of their trips to the land of scoring.

A chorus of moans rose from the crowd of Reserve rosters when Woodard Santa Cruz grabbed the opening kickoff and dashed through a tank size hole and headed for the sidelines with a firm as clear as the plains of Asia facing him. But the boys from the eager country were not to be entranced or their homecoming day Santa Cruz was dragged down after he advanced the ball 60 yards to the Reserve 19. Stanislaus was held and failed to score.

Another break brightened the prospects of a happy evening for the local team when Reserve fumbled on its second play from scrimmage and Stanislaus recovered on its opponents 21 yard line.

Reserve's line dug in and stopped the scoring threat at the point where it had originated. From then on, with the exception of a couple of plays it was the Leon Godechaux High School's ball game.

Bill Rhodes and Walter Gex, halfbacks, on separate occasions broke into the clear, with much the same situation and opportunity presented them as to their teammate Santa Cruz. But the solutions to these runs repeated itself and they were stopped from behind.

All but one of Reserve's touchdowns came on long runs. It scored on a nine yard end run, a picked up fumble run back for 40 yards, an off tackle run for 60 yards, another off tackle run for 55 yards, and an intercepted pass which was run back 55 yards for a score.

Coach Farley Day said, "The team wasn't ready. The boys didn't have their usual zip. They were unable to take advantage of the breaks in the early part of the game. Arm tackling, the lack of speed and poor pursuit contributed to our defeat.

"Reserve was ready. Everything checked for them. Their offense was not the best we have met this year but Martin was the best back we have faced."

Stanislaus was the victim of a lot of fumbles which were lost. Coach Herb Adams, assistant coach, said, "One of the reasons for so many fumbles was the fact that we were not alert."

Dick Fakier played a fine game for Stanislaus at quarterback. Leon Fazio was outstanding on defense.

This week Stanislaus meets its second opponent who is a member of the Mississippi Big Eight Conference. It plays Biloxi Friday night.

Biloxi has been defeated four times this season. But Coach Day said, "Biloxi is a better ball club than it record shows. They are fast. Alfonso Aldape should be back in the line up for his game. Charles Rick, who was hurt in the De La Salle game, but played in the Reserve game should be at top strength and Mitchell Decuir, hurt in the game Sunday afternoon, should come around before game time. But all three of these boys have been unable to practice."

Last year Biloxi defeated St. Stanislaus. The game will be held in the Biloxi stadium with the kickoff set for 8 o'clock.

Seen on the trip were Toulme Netto up near Rotten Bayou; Bernie and Albert Piazza, Sylvan Carver, Creel and Blackie Poolson, setting up a duck blind. Look out ducks!

Misses Helen and Mabel Rowley and Fred Skinner from Dallas, Texas, staying at Hilarist in Waveund did some fishing over the weekend. They love the sport and got their share.

LONG-EARED SUNFISH ©1954 National Wildlife Federation

They are hardy where may other fishes could not survive.

There are a number of subspecies of the long-eared sunfish. In this species the back fin is lower than in the bluegill sunfish or the pumpkin seed with which they might be confused. Possibly the most effective character used in identification is the long black ear flap. In the Great Lakes long-eared sunfish this flap is conspicuous because of broad red margin at the rear. In the Mississippi longer sunfish the flap has a pale blue border.

The former seldom grows to a length of 4 inches while the latter may reach twice that length.

The Mississippi longear is found in the Alabama, Mississippi, Ohio and Tennessee rivers and their tributaries.

With the ideal weather of the past week fishing camps were crowded to capacity and fishermen were everywhere and the fish cooperated a little better. Reports of all kinds of fish being caught were received.

Among those out by the R. R. bridge were A. I. Picard and Sam Schoonemaker. Didn't do so good said Mr. Picard.

DOWN AND DOWN IT GOES

Round and round it goes... down and down it goes... and let's hope it never stops! People are using more and more natural gas and oil every year. But the supply is not endless. Additional reserves must be discovered — today, tomorrow and every day — if the known supply is to keep pace with the growing demand.

And that means drilling, drilling, drilling... day and night, in good weather and bad. Gas and oil producers risk many millions of dollars every year drilling for more gas and oil for you. They take this risk in the hope of a profit. They must never lose that profit incentive if we are to have adequate supplies of oil and natural gas.

Sacred Heart Ceremony Held In Five Homes

The feast of St. Margaret Mary Alacoque, October 17, was the occasion for the ceremony of the Enthronement of the Sacred Heart at the homes of five families of Bay St. Louis.

Under the zealous promotion of Mrs. Anthony Benigno, the families of Mr. and Mrs. Leoroy Nease, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cacioppa, Mr. and Mrs. Lucien Pericario, enthroned the Sacred Heart in their homes Sunday afternoon. Father John Leonard, assistant at Our Lady of the Gulf Church, officiated at the ceremonies in these homes, as also of that of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Benigno.

In attendance, besides friends and members of the families, where Brothers Athanasius, Ephrem, Aurelian, Alvin and Linus of the St. Stanislaus Faculty.

Later in the day the ceremony of the Enthronement was performed in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Argus, Sr., by Father John Robinson.

The ceremony was most inspiring as earlier in the afternoon Mr. Wilbert Argus had been baptized in Our Lady of the Gulf Church by Father John T. O'Brien, pastor of Our Lady of Good Hope Church at De Lisle.

Assisting at the ceremony were Fathers Joseph Schermesser, pastor of Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church in Seneca, and Father John T. Martin, pastor of Sacred Heart Church of Hattiesburg. Sponsors for the baptism were, Mr. Marshall Ballard, and Mrs. Thomas Schaefer, who stood in proxy for Mrs. Catherine Dumbor Brown. Also at the baptism and the Enthronement were friends and members of the Argus and the Ballard families, and several members of the faculty of St. Stanislaus.

Last month, the impressive Sacred Heart ceremony took place in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Schaefer.

County Agent Notes

by HOWARD SIMMONS

SHEEP FEEDING

Remember that only hay of good quality is suitable for sheep. Green leafy alfalfa, lespedeza and other legume hays of high quality are all desirable.

In figuring your feed supply, provide 2 to 4 pounds of hay daily and not less than one half pound of grain per head. If the hay is not all legume allow one fourth pound of protein meal daily for each ewe. Also provide sufficient grain to creep feed lambs where needed.

Corn, oats or barley, if used with a liberal amount of good legume hay, makes a satisfactory ration for breeding ewes.

A suggested ration for pregnant ewes running on short dry pastures are: Alfalfa, lespedeza or soybean hay 2 to 3 pounds, silage (bright colored) 2 to 3 pounds, and shelled corn, oats or barley, one half pound; mixed hay (good quality) 3 to 4 pounds, shelled corn, oats or barley three-fourths pound; and protein meal, one fourth pound; or legume hay three pounds, shelled corn, oats or barley one half pound.

One half of any of these rations should be satisfactory for the average carry-over lamb.

WORMS IN FALL GRAZING

Grass worms (fall army worms) are being found all over the state in young oats, grasses, wheat, other cereals and fall vegetables.

These worms feed while small in the lower parts of the plants and are hard to find. It is going to take more than just a glance over the field to find them, and if they are there and you don't find them, you are going to lose your stand of winter grazing.

Keep your applicator and insecticide handy. Once you find worms in the fields, poison at once. Remember, it only takes a little insecticide to kill these worms.

For detailed information on controlling these worms, see your county agent and get a free copy of Extension publication 196, "Kill Field Crop Insects."

SORGHUM SEED

Sart and Tracy orgo seed will be in short supply next spring. The Mississippi Seed Improvement Association certified only 797 acres of Tracy and 461 acres of Sart sorgho seed this year. Most of these fields will not produce a normal yield. Certified seed of these two varieties will be extremely short for 1955 planting.

If you want to get certified seed for planting next spring, you had better contact your local seed dealer immediately for your 1955 supply.

Letters To The Editor

If we think, Sheriff Egloff or any other law officer can stop a good time, chance seeking persons, well, we are wrong. Some people, as soon as they see a gambling device of any kind, slot machine, dice, cards, etc. They are automatically drugged their thoughts intoxicate them. If they would speak, all they would be able to say would be "Win." I am originally from New Orleans. I have seen it, when they had slot machines. Makes no difference how they fight, there will be gambling some where. Why blame the sheriff because they lose. Some people look for these places and they find them.

Sportsweek

By GREGORY FAVRE

Football season is approaching the closing weekends and the coaches will soon be turning their efforts and sleepless and restless nights over to their colleagues, the basketball mentors.

Basketball is a fairly big sport in the State of Mississippi and one that will continue to grow in size and popularity if one repelling force is mended in the proper and organized fashion.

This resisting power is the Officials Association. An organization formed to raise the standard of the basketball officiating. But in this phase it has failed. The standard has not been raised but lowered. It has been the victim of a steady decline and seems to be aimed at reaching an all time low.

The idea of an association is a good one. But it seems that the qualifications for being admitted are not as stern as they should be. From reports received by this writer, all that is necessary is the $2.50 entrance fee. This is quite lenient, when you begin to realize the responsibility that the job involves.

Last season was an outstanding example of inadequate officiating. On any number of occasions inefficient calling of a game was noted. This could lead to the ruin of the sport. But why let it? The schools should get together and work on a better arrangement. It could be done. And it should be done.

A man should have to pass a test before he receives the okay of the association. He should prove to all concerned that he is familiar with the rules of the game and that he can handle the players on the teams without letting the game get out of hand.

If he cannot meet these specifications he should not be allowed to referee a game. When a game progresses with the players beginning to get rough and the official cannot control them there is always the danger of someone being seriously injured. When a referee walks on the court he should be the ruler of the gym.

His word should be the law. He is the judge and the jury and his decisions should be accepted as final. But in the past couple of years coaches have not had complete faith in the officials. They have doubted their judgment numerous times.

There must be something to this.

There is no way to get around the situation. The officials have been bad. First because anyone can secure a permit from the Officials Association, even though they do not prove their knowledge of basketball and secondly because the schools have accepted them without question.

There must be a cooperation between the schools in the state and the officials association. A move for improvement has to be the common cause.

Competent referees are needed. If something isn't done high school basketball will die in Mississippi.

The Pass P. T. A. was held Tuesday evening in the auditorium of the school and a gratifying number of parents attended.

tended. The program was a forum on the subject of what teachers expect of parents and what parents expect of teachers. Mrs. Sandy Hillyer was the moderator. Mrs. James True, Mr. John DeMet, and Mrs. Randall Jones represented the parents and Superintendent W. S. Van Landingham, Mrs. Louise Broome and Mrs. Kenneth Murphy represented the teachers on the panel.

Interest in the subject was evidenced by the audience when various groups asked questions of the panel. It is planned to have more PTA programs of this type.
